Right so after washing my eyes and taking a deep breath, i was able to clear my mind (a little) and write about this film about mistakes. Directed by Tom Six, and portrayed by Laurence R. to forgive and be more human, to have faith and join a religion. To escape his grim existence, Martin gets lost in the fantasy world of the cult horror film The Human Centipede (2009), fetishizing the meticulous skills Dr. Heiter's surgeries, whose knowledge of the human gastrointestinal system inspires Martin to attempt the unthinkable. Now this guy looks incredibly scary, ghostly and quietly mental, a low, disgustingly fat (his belly a view to see), strange frog-shaped eyes and a previous line of hair that a was made to look all fat and demented. Cast - Laurence R. Very ugly as Six delivers with its promise of more gore, but you have to give credit for the way it approaches. Harvey, Ashlynn Yennie, Dominic Borrelli, Georgia Goodrick, Maddi Black, Kandace Caine, Lucas Hansen, Lee Nicholas Harris, Dan Burman, Daniel Jude Gennis, Emma Lock, Katherine Templar, Peter Blankenstein, Vivien Bridson, Bill Hutchens Human Centipede 2 (full sequence) a Crime, Drama, Horror Film. Added to this is the clever idea of practically no dialog but mainly sound effects, the protagonist does not speak a word, he merely grunts, screams, cries and moans in very disturbing ways. So you will be able to bring good out of evil and light out of darkness, in this film which is what I bring out with. The a film in black and white, which gives it more unnerving and inclined towards greater realism. There's no way something so mediocre and desperate can turn into my subconscious. The main character in this sequel watches the Film on his laptop as an inspiration for him to realize his own agenda, so the first film has never happened in this universe of franchise. But I motionless. "The Human Centipede II" is obviously a dick for those who thought the first Human Centipede was too much. Don't forget to watch more movies like Faces in the Crowd, The Hunters and The Tall Man on Justdial's Movies Online. Yeah, it's pretty tough here, folks. Here it's about gore and shock value people, you see nudity both male and female, you see the protagonist playing with himself (you'll see his little fireman), there's a lot of blood and head blows, teeth that break with hammers, cutting knee tendons, cutting throat, bullets to the head Force-feeding, laxative injections, people eating excrement and seeing it dripping out of their mouth as they do, butt-faced staples, hints of child abuse, abusive corrupt doctors, hard English language, killing parents... Do I have to go on? So I saw the first movie after all the hype and I talked about it being really ugly and shocking, and like many movies over the years I was joking about how garbage those claims were. Original in terms of idea yes but hardly shocking, more bizarre, and you haven't even seen much. Martin masturbates with sandpaper, rapes a woman with barbed wire around her penis, a woman gives birth to a baby in her car and then crushes his skull when she aims at the accelerator, and you don't want to know what one of the escaped victims with Martin's domestic centipede is doing. The fact that people get hit and beaten all over the show and no one ever hears or sees anything and how the hell this lunatic manages to do all this on his own isn't really worth digging into. There is no suspense here, there is no character development; It's just killing after killing, with the most offensive scenes that aren't boring. How people treat LGBTQ people, how whites took the lands of native peoples and killed them, humans can be very and indifferent without conscience, without love. Six have done well in finding Crazy German Dieter Laser who looks like an evil Nazi scientist character type from the video game "Wolfenstein", but he has overcome himself to find Harvey, how or where you beat me, but this guy is bursting creepy!. Inside it is a parody of itself taking into account the first film as a film. I use the term "film" freely as this really meets as Director Six's personal horror fetish fantasy. The film is trying too hard to be gross. He works the night shift as a security guard in an equally sad and preconceived underground parking lot. Harvey as Martin Lomax. There is a bit of comedy and eroticism in the film, what I did not like was the dark aspects and erie to it. The film is surprisingly engaging for about the first half, but still morally repugnant in everything. You and the self-proclaimed hardcore horror fans deserve each other. Another point more that I have to say is the fusion of Unknown Laurence R. What is sad is that it only paints a dark and twisted light on mental illness, depression and other things. But it ends up in the wrong hands; those of the short, the podgy, and perhaps mentally retarded Martin (Laurence R. From the hand is very original and very imaginative as a horror / gore blow, but does not have the psychological or realistic atmosphere that the original massacre "Texas "Had. Harvey, in a demented performance), a shy little man who watches the movie over and over while he is working day by day in a parking garage. So he starts killing unfortunate innocent people in the garage and taking them to a warehouse that he basically stole from a guy after killing him. The film cuts back a lot leaving it to you to imagine how he did this and that or moved someone etc... The unfortunate truth of this movie is that it keeps accumulating on a fucked-up scenario after the scenario. The way this guy looks only without blinking, his facial expressions when He gets upset, angry or excitedly energized great time!. This is more or less what we thought would be the first round of six with the ugly premise of him: sick, repugnant, inhuman, and without fear of avoiding all the creepy details. As a film, it was quite harmless as it showed as little as possible for a movie of what it treated. Tom Six's contribution to the horror trend of the «porn of torture» had a rather twisted idea - a smart German surgeon who has drugged and kidnapped three tourists to be able to wire head to head to create a single digestive system a € "But you can't deny that the idea itself was the only twisted thing of the whole story. A fat child like a psychopath who likes pain in rather open ways. His still very close to the bone and works well to make you uncomfortable, the sound effects alone will make you shy away in places believe me. Ashlynn Yennie, who played one of the victims in the first film, returns to this sequel as herself, so this sequel is fundamentally in the real world where the first film is a movie, fantasy / fiction. Obviously the plot is completely stupid, with holes that could be crossed with a land rover, I'll make you think about the importance of mental health, how to take some sun, laugh and love others, spend time to do cheerful things. It's just Tom Six who tries to get reactions and mostly succeed. Then Martin is able to set up every part of him. The other thing about this film is the fact that it is not connected in any way to the original and shows the events of the first film just like this ... a movie. Comedy on the cinematographic gimmick a a € " s Just in MovieA », the film presents a world a € " just like our a € " in which the first a a a a " Human centipede "is literally just a film. Now we have the same problems all again with the only this time a " all completely bloody bloody I'll tell you!!! I'd like to start by saying that I've never felt this uncomfortable watching a movie since I saw the original Texas Chain Saw Massacre. Total rating: 37 845 AwardsMartin is a mentally disturbed loner who lives with his mother in a desolate housing project. I usually don't watch this kind of movie because it's not my thing but curiosity, I don't see any value for this movie apart from the points I made.The only thing I liked was Lucas Hansen, the blonde guy on all four, he's slim and sexy, and well the view of him on all four give and get analingus as Very erotic, and I think there's a sexual undertone to the movie, the submissive part, of all four before the master, and the analingus aspect for those who like it and consider it in bed. We gave Tom Six a lot of power by reacting with the same force we reacted with; the movie wasn't even that good. It's going to piss off a lot of people (the BBC had threatened to ban it at some point and there are several cuts because of the hard content, ehem, digest); and in a few scenes, you could say I'm one of those people. It also made me think about how white people treated black slaves for some reason, it made me think about the Third Reich, and how dehumanizing some victims suffered. We have an idea of Martin's sad home life; as it is (he lives with a sadistic mother who conspires to kill him and then herself) and as it was (Martin was molested by his father, repeatedly, like a child). There is of course some dialogue from various characters but it is very short and to the point, no mess around here no sir. He kills his mother, kidnaps Ashlynn Yennie (star of the first movie), and proceeds to scratch the mouths of assholes. One of the most distressing scenes comes when Martin's mom knocks on the ceiling for the musicians over to stop playing the High volume music, causing one of the bandmates to come down and beat the shit out of When the mother blames him for her action. It shows talent in some areas and none in others. Aug 25, 2012  out of * Let's be real and honest for a second: "The human centipede" was not as bad as the media took him out. At first I didn't like this idea as it reminded me of "The new nightmare of Wes Craven" where Englund is played, but after entering the plot, I think it's a nice ingenious way to go for the follow-up, complete a more interesting! for sure. Six Souls of EntertainmentEvilpsicopathsMuteFecomeescrement Eat194 Morewhat a the outline of the French language plot for the human centipede II (full sequence) (2011)? Answereryery has not recently viewed this film a " very wrong on all human levels, but a " just this , a film and nothing more!. A shot in color but converted to black and white with a really interesting cinematography (which takes the portrait of strange and coarse things) that retains a kind of beauty in everything; But who am I joking, this is not an art. Sorry you are, but you will regularly sleep' nights regardless of whether you see your movie or not. Very dark, very shabby, shabby, murky and very sadistic. Then a went and made a sequel, because the real Gorehound were disappointed by the former and the critics were so easily offended. Harvey, Ashlynn Yennie, Dominic Borrelli, Georgia Borrelli, Maddi Black, Kandace Caine, Lucas Hansen, Lee Nicholas Harris, Dan Burman, Daniel Jude Gennis, Bloc Emma, a Templare Katherine, Peter Blankenstein, Vivien Bridson and Bill Hutches. To be honest" in reality It's a unique piece and you could almost say its extreme or indie, apart from the excruciating gut Gore, of course. Inspired by fictional Dr. Heiter, disturbed Loner Martin dreams of creating a 12-person centipede and distinguishing to realize his ill fantasy. This movie" in so graphic that the BBFC would not allow it unless it was heavily cut, I saw uncut version and I can understand why, seeing the death of a newborn with his head crushed!? Through the film he finds sexual and intellectual enlightenment; And we learn that you want to make Dr. Heiter's sick fantasies his reality.
